

Loan regulations

As a patron you promise to abide by the loan regulations of the University Library.

Library cards

You can get a library card starting with the year of your 18th birthday. Register, and then show valid identification at the information desk.

For students and employees at Jönköping University, the JU-card is the library card. No other registration is needed.

The library card is personal and shall be presented on each loan occasion.

Immediately report loss of the JU-card at Self Service. Contact the library immediately if you lose your library card.

Loan period

The loan period is, in most cases, 21 days. For certain items, for example eReaders (reading pads), the loan period might be shorter. Books from the course book collection can be borrowed for two days.

Renewals

Renewals are made on My account, the self-service machines, or by contacting the library – with a maximum of nine renewals/book.

A loan cannot be renewed if the book is requested by another borrower.

Employees at Jönköping University, and ILL libraries, will have their loans automatically renewed, unless there are requests by other borrowers.

Reservations

Reservations can be made by students from any university, and employees at Jönköping University. Reservations are made through Primo.

You will receive a notice from the library when the book is available.

Not for loan

Reference literature, newspapers, and journals shall be available for reading at the library and cannot be borrowed.

Interlibrary loans

Books requested from other libraries are subject to the loan regulations of the lending library.

Overdue notices

Loans not returned or renewed after 21 days, will entail a late return fine of 10 SEK/day and book.

For books from the course book collection, the late return fine is 50 SEK/day and book.

Reminders regarding interlibrary loans will be sent every five days. As from the second reminder, a fine of 50 SEK/book and reminder, will be charged.

When your fine exceeds 50 SEK, you are suspended from borrowing any material until the fine is settled.

Loan regulations until 2014-04-27

If the book is not returned despite several reminders, the University Library will send an invoice covering the retail price of the book, and a handling charge of 200 SEK/book.

If the book is returned after the invoice has been sent, a late return fine of 200/SEK will be charged.

Damaged or lost books

Should a book be damaged or lost, the borrower will be charged a replacement fee equivalent to the purchase price, and an administrative charge of 200 SEK.

Even when the borrower has paid for damaged items, they remain the property of the library.

All replacements and repairs are taken care of by the library.

Policies subject to change.
