- Sales methods
- Evaluation of buyer/seller relationships
- Strategic purchasing
- Ethics

Type of instruction

The course includes lectures and seminars. Problem-based learning is emphasised. Students are expected to plan and take responsibility for self-studies, including reading assigned course literature and completing group assignments.

The teaching is conducted in English.

The teaching is conducted in English.

Prerequisites

30 credits in Business Administration or Economics including 15 credits in Business Administration (or the equivalent).

Examination and grades

The course is graded A, B, C, D, E, FX or F.

The examination consists of a written exam, an individual seminar and a group project. Knowledge and understanding is examined through the written exam. Skills and abilities as well as judgement and approach are examined through both the exam, the individual seminar and the group project.

Registration of examination:

| Name of the Test | Value | Grading |
|------------------|-------------|----------------|
| Examination | 5 credits | A/B/C/D/E/FX/F |
| Case seminar | 1 credit | A/B/C/D/E/FX/F |
| Course project | 1.5 credits | A/B/C/D/E/FX/F |

Course evaluation

It is the responsibility of the examiner to ensure that each course is evaluated. At the outset of the course, evaluators must be identified (elected) among the students. The course evaluation is carried out continuously as well as at the end of the course. On the completion of the course the course evaluators and course examiner discuss the course evaluation and possible improvements. A summary report is created and archived. The reports are followed up by program directors and discussed in program groups and with relevant others (depending on issue e.g. Associate Dean of Education, Associate Dean of faculty, Director of PhD Candidates, Dean and Director of Studies). The next time the course runs, students should be informed of any measures taken to improve the course based on the previous course evaluation.

Other information

Academic integrity

JIBS students are expected to maintain a strong academic integrity. This implies to behave within the boundaries of academic rules and expectations relating to all types of teaching and examination.

Copying someone else's work is a particularly serious offence and can lead to disciplinary action. When you copy someone else's work, you are plagiarizing. You must not copy sections of work (such as paragraphs, diagrams, tables and words) from any other person, including another student or any other author. Cutting and pasting is a clear example of plagiarism. There is a workshop and online resources to assist you in not plagiarizing called the Interactive Anti-Plagiarism Guide.

Other forms of breaking academic integrity include (but are not limited to) adding your name to a project you did not work on (or allowing someone to add their name), cheating on an examination, helping other students to cheat and submitting other students work as your own, and using non-allowed electronic equipment during an examination. All of these make you liable to disciplinary action.
