

Dear all,

With this e-mail we send you a warm welcome to the master's programme Learning, Digitalization, and Sustainability (LeaDS) at School of Education and Communication, Jönköping University. First there are a lot of practical steps for you to be able to start your studies, and most of this information has already been communicated to you. However, just to make sure, you will find a few links below regarding registration, login information to our course platform Canvas, and a link to support if needed.

We, the team of teachers and myself (programme director), are very much looking forward to meeting you all, and get started with the courses, and all activities aligned with the course content, learning outcomes and the results that you will aim to achieve.

As a first activity, we ask you to write a short introduction of yourself, in which you describe your interest in the programme, your aims, what your expectations of the programme are. We ask you to upload your short introduction during the registration week 34 (Aug 22-26), when you have access to Canvas (more information to come where to upload in Canvas). In Sweden we tend to structure university studies linked to the number of the actual week in the year, so registration that starts week 34, will start from 22th August. The course activities begin week 35 (starting with 29th August). If this is new to you, you will soon get used to it.

And do not hesitate to come back to me for any question you may have.

Looking forward to meeting you all, very soon!

On behalf of the course team,

Maria

You should have received this information too, but in case you need the links/a reminder: Please log in to your account at University Admissions and download your Notification of Selection Results. In the upper left corner you can find your civic number (Personnummer), also called Swedish personal number/ID. Note this as you should use this when you register for the course, <https://activation.ju.se/loginselector>.

Registration (and creation of login and e-mail address): <https://activation.ju.se/loginselector>

Once you have registered, created login information, you will be able to login to Canvas, our course platform:

<https://ju.se/student/en/studies/canvas.html>

In case you need support for registration and/or login to Canvas, please get in touch with Helpdesk:
