

JÖNKÖPING UNIVERSITY
School of Health and Welfare

Welcome to the Master's programme in Occupational Therapy at the School of Health and Welfare, Jönköping University!

You will be studying towards a Degree of Master (120 credits) with a major in Occupational Therapy. You have chosen to study this programme with a 100% study pace for a duration of two academic years (August 2022 – June 2024). Full-time (100%) study pace means approximately 40 hours of studies per week.

The programme is a web-based programme that uses the online learning management system, Canvas. All programme activities – such as lectures, real-time seminars, supervisions, and examinations – are conducted online. This means that there are no compulsory meetings on campus. Real-time meetings are held using Zoom.

Programme introduction

The introduction to the programme and the compulsory roll call will be on Tuesday, 30th August 2022, 13:00-15:00 (CEST). This will be immediately followed by the introduction to the first course in the programme, Theory of Science and Scientific Method, which will be from 15:00-17:00 (CEST). For both introductions, please use the Zoom-link, <https://ju-se.zoom.us/j/65977411275>.

Before the programme starts

It is important to activate your student account on <https://activation.ju.se/loginselector> before the programme introduction. This will enable you to confirm your registration for the programme and your courses through the study administration system, StudentLadok. Information about StudentLadok services and how to log in can be found at <https://ju.se/student/en/studies/information-about-ladok.html>

Information about your studies, your rights and responsibilities as a student, and other university services can be found at <https://ju.se/student/en.html>. Please keep in mind that information from this webpage is for all students, including campus-based and current students. As a new student, you can also find information under Online programme at <https://ju.se/newstudent>.

A warm welcome from all of us at Jönköping University!
